

Job advertisement TissUse

TissUse is the pioneering force in the field of multi-organ-chip technology, driving innovation since 2010. Our commercially available HUMIMIC Multi-Organ-Chips offer a unique opportunity to model the complexities of human organs and their interactions. By leveraging our cutting-edge technology, you can make informed decisions during the drug development process. Predict toxicity and efficacy, and evaluate ADME profiles in vitro, all while reducing the dependence on animal testing and streamlining clinical trials. Trusted by academic and industry leaders, TissUse empowers you to obtain comprehensive safety and efficacy data, revolutionizing the future of research.

Would you like to become a member of our team? We are currently looking for a

Working Student Marketing & Content Creation (m/f/d)

Your tasks

- Conduct research and generate targeted marketing content for online channels aimed at the identified audience
- Planning, creation and evaluation of campaigns and other advertising measures
- Photo, video and text creation for social media, website and newsletters
- Support the Business Development team with administrative tasks e.g. maintaining the customer database
- Close collaboration with the Business Development and Graphics departments

Your profile

- You are currently enrolled at a university and are studying marketing, media or communication sciences, media design, journalism or a comparable course of study
- Very good writing skills in German and English
- Sensitivity in the creation of target group-oriented content
- Strategic thinking as well as structured, thorough and independent work
- Team spirit, commitment and a sense of responsibility
- Ideally experience in recording videos and taking high quality photos, planning and implementing advertising campaigns as well as using newsletter tools and content management systems

We offer

- An innovative and modern working environment with flat hierarchies
- Employment as a working student (10-20 h/week) with flexible working hours
- A daily portion of fruit for a healthy immune system, as well as coffee, tea and cocoa
- The opportunity to participate in a communal system that guarantees fresh lunch every day.

At TissUse GmbH, you will find a workplace that values innovation, committed cooperation between all departments, open and cross-hierarchical communication as well as a family-friendly and fair personnel policy.

We value diversity and therefore welcome all applications - regardless of gender, nationality, ethnic and social origin, religion/belief, disability, age as well as sexual orientation and identity.

Interested?

Then we look forward to getting to know you!

Please send your complete application documents by e-mail, stating your possible starting date, to: Johanna Dietzfelbinger | career@tissuse.com